

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES

Effrosyni (Efi) Adamopoulou is an economist at the Bank of Italy. She received her Ph.D. in Economics from Universidad Carlos III de Madrid in 2013. Efi's research focuses on labour economics and applied micro-econometrics. She is particularly interested in research on household decision-making, education, consumption, and family economics. She has published in the Oxford Bulletin of Economics and Statistics, Economics Letters, and the Journal of Human Capital among others. In 2012 she was awarded the EALE Young Labour Economist prize. For more information please visit her website.